Dear Members of the Midwest Society for Pediatric Research,

We are pleased to announce the 59th Annual Meeting of the Midwest Society for Pediatric Research to be held October 4-5, 2018 at Beaumont Children's in Royal Oak, Michigan. This meeting traditionally provides a wonderful setting in which to present and hear about outstanding pediatric research performed at the major research universities throughout the Midwest. We trust that there will be topics of interest for everyone!

Each day's session will present a distinguished keynote speaker presentation. The Final program will be posted to our Website one month prior to the meeting. <https://www.aps-spr.org/regions/mwspr/>

We plan to present our Founder's Award (for a senior pediatric investigator who has made major contributions to pediatric research in the Midwest) and the James Sutherland Award (for the best abstract presented by a junior faculty member no more than 5 years out of fellowship training as of June 30, 2017) at a special luncheon (free of charge) on Thursday, October 4 from 12:00 to 1:30 pm.

We will also present the Frederic M. Kenny Award and the Jack Metcuff Award for the best-presented abstracts of work completed in residency or fellowship. We will present the Segar Award for best clinical research presentation by a trainee. In addition, the Cleveland Clinic best Student Research Award will be given. A Stanley Phillips Award for best poster presentation will also be given. These awards will be presented at the luncheon (free of charge) on Friday, October 5 from noon to 1:00 pm. Please choose the award that you wish to apply for on the pull down menu on the electronic abstract submission form.

We will underwrite a substantial portion of the travel expenses for medical students, residents, and fellows as first authors who present their work at our meeting. When you designate your trainee status on your abstract, we will send you a "trainee form" to bring to the meeting for the Treasurer to utilize in order to reimburse you. The form will request trainee's social security number to process these travel awards, which are issued after the meeting.

Submit your best abstracts now by going to www.medpubinc.com. The abstract deadline is Friday, June 8, 2018 - 11:59 PM (midnight) EST. Remember, this meeting is particularly supportive of trainees and junior faculty and represents a great opportunity to meet other pediatric research scientists from throughout the region.

We look forward to seeing you in Royal Oak, Michigan this fall!

Sincerely,
